TOLLE LEGE
PER SCIENTIAM

A·D· 1947

THIS IS THE SEAL OF MERRIMACK COLLEGE

Its heraldry deeply symbolic...
Waving lines of blue and gold, representing the Merrimack River, Merru-asquam-ack, the place of swift water.... our college has already made tremendous strides in becoming a veritable fountainhead of Christian culture and advancement for all those entering its stream of activities.
"a trimount of the field charged with a cross fleurette," a part of the coat of arms of Archbishop Cushing, under whose patronage the College was established, representing Trimount, the original appellation of Boston.
a child's voice saying "tolle lege, tolle lege" (take up and read, take up and read) led to the conversion of St. Augustine and the dedication of his life to Christ.
"per scientiam ad sapientiam," (through knowledge to wisdom,) the ultimate purpose of Merrimack College . . . only through the valid combination of intellectual and spiritual knowledge of God and the world can we attain the fullness of wisdom.
College colors, blue for the fidelity of the Mother of God, and gold for the wisdom of the true Church form the chromatic basis of the seal of Merrimack College, devoted to Mary under the title of Our Mother of Good Counsel, and under her protection.

The 1995

Welcome to the 1995 Merrimackan Yearbook! We have worked hard and invested many hours in to bringing you the best book that we could. All of you that gave your time and contributed to the Yearbook can take pride in the fact that the book would not have been as good if you didn't help.

This book is there to help you remember your years at Merrimack long after they have passed. This book should be reminder of the days when you first entered and everything seemed so mysterious to you, but that mystery soon became clearer and presented itself to you as opportunity. Look at the mysteries of the world in the same way and think of all those opportunities. Take pride in who you are and where you came from as you carry the Merrimack name with you. If you ever never need a glimpse at the past you will always have it close by.

Merrimackan

A Reflection...

A yearbook will make different statements to different people, and it will also evoke varying emotions. For some, the yearbook might bring back memories of glorious times while at college, whether in camaraderie, athletics, or scholastics. Other people might think of missed opportunities in days past. Still others might reflect on the exploits of their friends, and laugh at their memorable quirks. The memory of old friends or loves might bring tear to the eyes of the most involved reader. Hopefully, the 1995 Merrimackan will do all of these things, and more.

As you turn the pages of this book, it might be a good idea to ask yourself: What did my college experience mean to me? Whether we realize it or not, these years at school will help form our ideals and attitudes for the rest of our lives. Bearing that in mind, what do you feel was the strongest aspect of college? Friendship? Alienation? Hard work? Rigorous training? Suspicion? Not all of these thoughts have positive connotations, but that makes them no less real. And if we identify our feelings about college, with the help of the yearbook, then we can see what we might have done wrong, and move to correct our future behavior.

The yearbook, in other words, is not just another campus document. It is a living, breathing, organ through which we can recapture good and bad memories. In this hectic world where we live, it can be very difficult at times to find something to hold on to. It is a piece of work that shows us where we have been and where we could go. I do not think of this book as a means by which we can escape from hopelessness or chaos, but it is a way we can look toward the future, knowing that we have a solid past on which to build. As they say,"We must not live on our past, we must live up to it."

Beyond the thoughts about college, another important question is,"What did I do while at college?" Hopefully, the yearbook will go a long way in answering this query, but the truth might not be as comforting to some as to others. It is possible, for example, that a person may have sat in perpetual apathy for four years, and made little effort to interact. It is just as likely, of course, that someone may have gone out of his or her way to get involved, and as a result, had little time for the simple joys, like talking with friends. The best experience would be somewhere in between these two extremes, which is an ideal that few of us achieve. That being the case, what did you do? What did you do to form your perceptions for the future? Did you seize the moment, or has the moment shaken you?

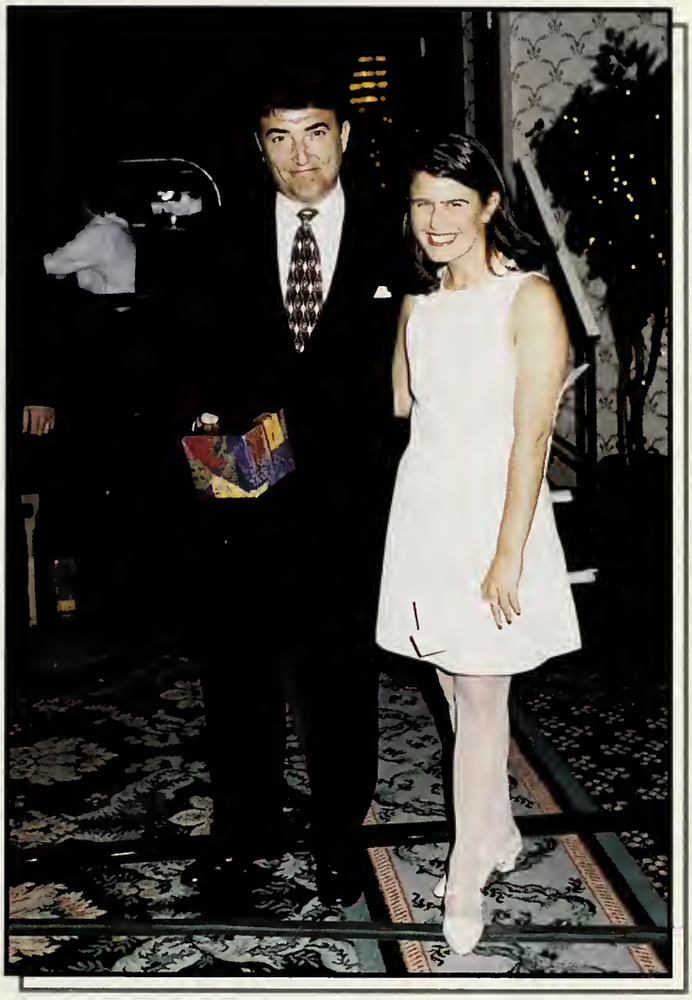
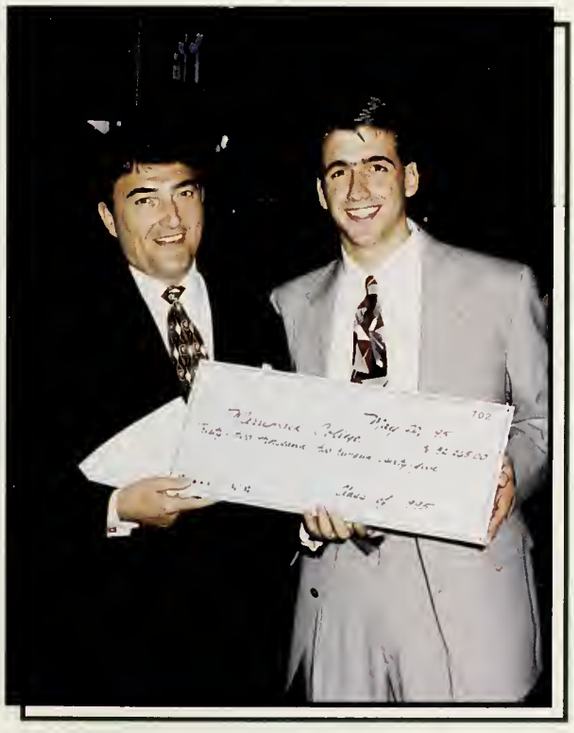
Richard Santagati

Mr. Richard J. Santagati was appointed Interim President of Merrimack College in March of 1994. He has served as Chairman of the Board of Trustees since 1991 and as a Board member since 1988. President Santagati took a very active role with the Merrimack College Community during this past year. The students at Merrimack are extremely impressed by the genuine concern that President Santagati shows for the College especially the students. During this past year it was not out of the ordinary to see President Santagati "out of the office" supporting students, whether it was helping students rack leaves at the colleges pick up day or sitting in the stands at Boston University cheering on the Warriors against the Terriers in the Finals to sporting a chef's hat while serving food to the seniors at the senior farewell dinner. The senior class would like to thank President Santagati for all his help this past year and would like to wish him luck in the coming years.





Moseley Truss Bridge

The Moseley Truss Bridge was built in 1864 to span the North Canal in Lawrence, Massachusetts. The bridge remained there until 1989, when it was literally falling into the canal from disrepair. Dr. Francis E. Griggs retrieved the bridge and had it brought to the campus of Merrimack College in four pieces on a flat bed truck. Over the next couple of years, extensive work was done on the bridge to reconstruct it to its present condition. The work was done by Dr. Griggs, students, staff, and alumnus of the college.

When the bridge was complete, efforts were made to find a permanent home for it, but no one was willing to accept it. Meanwhile, the bridge sat in the parking lot of the campus apartments. An idea was born that the bridge remain on campus permanently, since a bridge and reflecting pool appeared in the Master Plan of the College in 1947. Finally, as a class project in Construction Planning and Management, students in the Civil Engineering Department made a Moseley Bridge Relocation Proposal to the Board of Trustees of the College.

On January 13, 1995 the Civil Engineering Department was notified by President Richard J. Santagati that the Board of Trustees had given their approval to move forward on the bridge relocation project. The bridge was moved from the parking lot to its present site by cranes on April 1, 1995. All of the labor and materials have been donated to the college for this project.

Editor's Page

Welcome to a continuing piece of Merrimack history. The book shelves of the yearbook office are lined with the books of past years. Each editor and staff looking at their yearbook, and being proud that they carried on another year of the history of Merrimack. Giving the book a piece of themselves as well as much of Merrimack as could be fit on a small collection of pages. There is always a sense of hope that the next editor and staff would give as much of themselves to make each book a little better. Will people like what we have done? Is this what they expected and hoped to see? We all do our best and hope that the end result is well liked. To all those who contributed, smile and remember that you helped to carry on the tradition.

I was dropped in to the job of being Editor with the pressure that I was only one that was left. My first reaction was the fear of taking on a book keeping in mind how much work goes into a Yearbook. Then realizing that the book had to stay alive the only choice left was to be committed to seeing the 1995 Merrimack Yearbook completed. The amount planning that goes into just getting a few picture lined up for a single section takes hours of planning, coordinating, and doing. When all the materials have been selected and grouped then comes the hours of computer time to put it all together. Even with the most powerful of computing equipment the book takes much time to just enter it all in. Many people shared little pieces of their talents with the book to add their own distinct touch to it's pages.

All that is left to be said is: ENJOY...

WOW! Four years went by fast but I'm sure we all feel the same. I'm leaving Merrimack with mixed feelings as I'm sure I'll miss this place but I'm ready to move on. I am leaving with a degree and grades that I can be proud of as well as so many other things that can not be quantified. What could be Merrimack's #1 asset is its faculty. I have had so many wonderful professors and a special thanks goes to Nelson, Wass, Puretz and Delgaudio, the professors who have prepared me for a career in accounting. The job placement program was a big help with me getting a job with Peat Marwick(Ray too). Hockey is what brought me to Merrimack and that is where I have some of my fondest memories even though we never made it to the garden. I want to thank Coach Anderson for having confidence in me. Something I will not miss are the grueling skates, " All right, last time", yeah right! I am still mad that my bag never came down the shoot first. I had a blast playing tennis here too. Thanks to Coach Edelman for doing such a good job with the program. I will work on getting those first serves in, over the top, right? I have made some great friends here and I will never forget all of you. Best parties

My name is John Cosgrove and I am from Oakville, Connecticut. The past four years have been a challenging yet exciting experience. I am thankful for the richness of the friendships I developed as well as the knowledge I gained from the professors. I came to Merrimack College looking for a strong academic reputation and excellent athletic programs. It was rather an easy choice. I wanted a smaller school where I could have my ideas and statements challenged in a supportive environment; this is what I found. The professors at Merrimack College are top notch; there is not one class I can think of that did not open and/or broaden my conception of interesting topics. I have been an accounting major the past four years at Merrimack College. I enjoyed dealing with the financial data and being able to reason and draw conclusions about various materials. Other related topics in my major were also fascinating; they presented the inner-working of business and why it operates as such. Soccer was another important portion of my life at Merrimack College. I have seen steady improvements in the team every year I have been here. This year it culminated into the NE-10 regular season championship

My name is Mark Goble and I transferred to Merrimack College three years ago as a sophomore. Looking back, I think deciding on Merrimack was the best decision of my life. I wouldn't trade my last three years here for anything! You really can't beat the atmosphere of a small school. Some of my fondest memories will be of the hockey team. Even though we didn't have a lot of success during my three year career, we were a closely knit group who made the best out of a lot of tough times. I hope that in the years to come, our team will achieve the success it deserves because we have a lot of returning talent. My classes here were as enjoyable as classes can be and I would like to extend a special thanks to the Accounting faculty for supplying me with a top notch education. While interviewing for jobs last fall, I found that Merrimack's Accounting and Finance Departments were well respected by local C.P.A. firms. Yes, I was involved with Student Government, Theta Phi Alpha and many other committees but nothing compares to the friendships and the memories that I have gained. As the job and apartment search creeps upon us there are times when we all wonder if it was all worth it? I can't answer this question for everyone, but when graduation day comes along and I look around at all of the people who have become such an important part of my life, my reply is yes, it was worth it and I hope the rest of the experiences that we encounter

Where should I begin? Merrimack College has had it's ups and downs, but I wouldn't change this experience for anything in the world. I've learned more in the past four years than I have in my whole life. Not only was I thrown into a strange place without a curfew or my parents to hold my hand, but I was given an opportunity to find out who I really was and how to grow as a person. The friends I've gained and the things I've accomplished have made the first part of my life complete. At times I find myself not willing to let go, and often wanting to go back and do it all over again. But the open forms, Student Government E-Board meetings, and the Programming Board will have to be left behind, along with the rest of my experiences at

My name is Patria Rojas, a biology major at Merrimack College. I am also an HIV Pre and Post test counselor at a family clinic, a member of the Board of Directors at the Lazarus House in Lawerence, the President of the Intercultural Club and an English as a second language teacher at the Good Shepard in Lawerence. My first contact with Merrimack was in 1987 through Lawrence High School in good academic standards. Coming from the Dominican Republic that same year, knowing no English, the Accept the Challenge was a real challenge and a catalytic in the learning process of English. After graduating from Lawrence High School in 1988, I always kept in contact with Merrimack; I fell in love with the school. In 1991 I transferred from Northern Essex Community College to Merrimack.

I have a great passion for learning and I experience an enormous satisfaction from helping people. At Merrimack I had the opportunity to develop these qualities by working in labs for long hours in my science courses, working as a Resident Assistant, taking part in panel discussions about diversity and minority issues, being a Peer Educator and by working in the Co-op Biology program. During my college career I also volunteered to work as a physician to patient interpreter at Lawrence General Hospital. For two years I was a Resident assistant and tutor for the Accept the Challenge program and the activities coordinator for the American Language Academy at Merrimack. Becoming a well rounded, educated and open minded individual is not an easy process, there are many pieces to the puzzle. I have met great people that helped me grow academically, spiritually and emotionally to live and serve better our society. Undoubtedly a great part of my life stays at Merrimack and to receive my diploma is my greatest accomplishment in the beginning of my professional career. I would like to thank everybody that made this dream possible. YOU GUYS ARE GREAT! My success is also yours. I thank God for my family, my friends, for my heroes Pat, Gene and Gibo and for all the good patient teachers at Merrimack, GOD BLESS YOU!!

In my five years here at Merrimack College, I have been involved in many different activities. However, none of them were more important than my involvement in the CO-Op program, Orientation Committee, and the AMA. Looking back, I know that joining the co-op program was the best decision I have ever made. The experience and knowledge I attained are things you can not get in any classroom or from any textbook. Through my various co-op positions I have gained confidence in my abilities, and seen how those skills led to increased responsibility. In one of my positions with NYNEX, I realized exactly what I want from a job, and how I want to be treated in that job. The responsibility I was given in this position also showed me the reward for hard-work and dedication. It's hard for me to describe all the benefits of the program in a paragraph, but let me tell you, it was well worth going to school for five years. Being involved in both AMA and OC also taught me things you can not get from the classroom, including how to be a leader, and how to work together as a team. Through both of these organizations, I had opportunities I would have never gotten had I not been involved. My years with both organizations were fun and the friendships I made and lessons I learned will never be forgotten.

To all the gang from the co-op program, especially the NYNEX crew: Thanks for a great 5 years. To my AMA pals and Professor Rich-Duval: Thanks for the memories; "New Orleans will never be forgotten". Mom, Dad and Brian-Thank you so much for all the years of support and encouragement: I LOVE YOU!!! Finally, to the crew-from the punch parties freshmen year, to the G-41 bashes senior year, it's been a blast!!! Through the good times and bad, you guys have always been there!!! The past four years have been the best times of my life. I have learned so much about people, true friendships and myself. It is a great feeling to know the people that only four years ago who were complete strangers are now the people who mean the most in my life. All of the time and dedication to Merrimack has given me so much in return. Becoming a part of Theta Phi Alpha, Student Government, Orientation Committee, Chairman of the Judicial Board at Merrimack and being the President of the American Marketing Association has given me the opportunity to see beyond the classroom and experience what college

When I first chose Merrimack College I was a little skeptical because of its small size. I feared it would be too much like high school. In looking back over the past four years I think this is what I have liked best about the school, the ability to meet so many new people, makes for a more relaxed atmosphere. I think it was this type of feeling that made me join the student groups on campus. The groups range from the American Marketing Association, intramural sports and the Merrimack Marketing Agency among others. I think the one I am most proud of is the M.M.A. It was an internship working closely with executives from General Motors. Most schools involved had about 25 students and Merrimack had only 7. We were just as competitive as schools such as B.U. and other big schools. I think this is what makes Merrimack so unique. I think one of my proudest moments as a student at Merrimack came during senior year. For the M.M.A. we had to plan a promotional event. We decided to throw a Battle of the Bands. Judging from the response I have received from students it was an astounding success. It feels rewarding to know that there was an event at Merrimack that all the students enjoyed and to know that I had a major part in planning it. I would like to thank my parents and my brother for being a tremendous inspiration, without them I would never have made it through my years at Merrimack.

My four years at Merrimack College have been extremely enjoyable and memorable. Merrimack has given me the opportunity to grow not only mentally through academics, but spiritually and socially as well. The academic programs offered at Merrimack provide a solid and diverse background for all students. My major concentration was in International Business with a minor concentration in French. I was encouraged to study abroad to further benefit from both programs. I spent the Spring Semester of my junior years in Cannes, France with one other student from Merrimack, Caroline Cashman. I was able to improve my French language skills and complete my minor through the intensive French language program offered by the college. I also took an International Business course concentrating on the European Union as well as a History of France course. I have never learned so much in such a short period of time. I was completely emerged in a new country and was able to learn and become accustomed to the different cultural ways of the French citizens. I also lived with International students from all over the world from Japan to South America. I really learned to appreciate individuals for who they are and the values they represent, rather than where they come from or their background. My experiences in Europe enhanced my education. I was able to apply my experiences to cases and examples at Merrimack. I believe that all students should consider the opportunity to study abroad because the benefits far outweigh the costs. Living on the French Riviera for five months was an unforgettable experience. From going to the beach after class, traveling Europe on the weekends, or attending the film at the Cannes Film Festival in May, every day represented a new experience that now represents an amazing and unforgettable memory and opportunity. I would like to thank all of my professors at Merrimack for teaching me with amazing efforts, their wisdom and knowledge will be carried with me into the "real world." Thank you to Professor Rich-Duval for all of her help when I was in France and of course a special thank you to my friends and family, especially my parents. Accounting and Finance Society

The Accounting and Finance Society has many activities during the course of the year. One major event is the Big-6 Night, in which the Big-6 Accounting firms come to Merrimack and talk about their companies and the accounting profession. Another event is the VITA Tax Preparation Seminar, were students learn how to prepare income tax returns. The students then are able to serve the elderly in the community by volunteering their time to help them do their income taxes. The Accounting and Finance Society would like to thank their faculty advisor Russ Wass for all his help and they would also like to extend their best wishes to the graduating accounting students in the class of 1995.

American Marketing Association

The Merrimack College Chapter of the American Marketing Association has had successful year of programs and activities. Our goal is to bring together the college community with the field of marketing. We were able to sponsor both social and academic activities on and off campus that helped to expand our members' knowledge of marketing. Over the past year the Marketing Association increased membership and proved by our wide array of non marketing members that one does not have to concentrate on a major in marketing enjoy the benefits of membership.

Traditionally, the Merrimack Marketing Association has been actively involved in sponsoring charitable events. We began in the fall by participating in the Walk for Breast Cancer and along with Merrimaction we CO-sponsored the annual canned food drive. Our members also gave back to the College, donating their time to the Admissions office to give tours to prospective freshmen. At Christmas the organization sponsored three deserving families in Lynn, MA and in the Spring we made a donation to a family within the college community.

We also sponsored many social activities. We began the year by sponsoring a bus trip to Faneuil Hall in Boston. Over 90 students took part in this welcome back night that proved to be a night of excitement and fun. In the Spring the trip to Foxwoods Casino became a night of friendships and laughs.

The Fall and Spring semesters were successful with our annual fundraising activity- The Survival Kits. Thanks to the love and commitment of so many students parents we were once again able to bring a little sunshine to students during the final exam periods.

In the Fall 10 active members were able to attend the Annual Northeast Regional Conference located at Johnson and Wales College in Rhode Island. The weekend was full of new learning experiences, networking and lots of fun. In April, the Marketing Association was able to attend the International Collegiate Conference in New Orleans, Louisiana. We were proud to send Executive Board members- President Jill Soper, Vice Presidents- Olivia Lyons, John Day, Rachael DeFeo, Melissa Schwatka, Alesandra Giuggio, Brian Poulliot and the two outstanding members- Erin Casey and Tony Silva. The Merrimack Chapter participated in the annual awards banquet and was awarded "Best Fundraising Chapter" by the American Marketing Association. This was a true honor as it exemplified our efforts to make our chapter the best it can be.

Commuter Council

The Commuter Council is a service organization designed specifically for Commuters. With their busy schedules at home, work and school, Commuters often feel separated from the campus, like nomads moving from one territory to another. The Commuter Council is on campus to give Commuters three important things: a voice in college affairs, a range of activities to engage in, and a chance to meet fellow Commuters. As advocates, the Council provides Commuters with the opportunity to have their opinions voiced to college officials. For example, during the Spring semester, Commuters had the chance to talk to President Santagati. A wide range of issues were discussed, including improving student life, tightening admissions for prospective students, and broadening facilities for students with mental and physical disabilities. Students, ordinarily, would not get the chance to sit down and talk with the College President, with the Commuter Council they did. During the semester, the Commuter Council provides a number of activities. Every Monday morning, we serve free coffee and doughnuts to banish the blues. Once a month, we have a free pizza lunch in our offices and we sponsor a major activity like a trip to see a comedy show at discounted ticket prices. Most important of all, the Commuter Council provides Commuters a large "dorm room" lounge. The new E-board has renovated its lounge space with new rugs, new furniture, a cable TV, a VCR, a radio, a refrigerator, a study room complete with a Macintosh computer for Commuters to use. This year's Commuter Council was brought to you by five, energetic students; Christine Coco '96, Sarah Davis '97, Sandra Chervinsky '96, Linda Dainis '96 and Christopher Cummings '96. Special thanks to our tough-talkin', no-nonsense advisor Jackie McCleod from Campus Ministry.

Cooperative Education

The Cooperative Education Program at Merrimack College provides a means of establishing a career direction that will lead to a rewarding position in today's challenging economy. By working in paid career-related jobs while pursuing an undergraduate degree, students gain practical experience in a variety of professional work settings. On the job, students are exposed to developments, as well as to state-of-the-art technologies. With on-the-job success comes confidence, contacts for future job searches, as well as marketable skills for a future career. A recent survey of Merrimack Co-op graduates indicated that 52% found permanent placements as a direct result of their Co-op work experience and contacts.

Merrimaack Out Reach Experience

You've seen them, in the Quad, in the Warrior's Den, even in the Library. They're always hugging, and wearing strange accessories. Who are they you ask? - Retreatants. They have made the strange journey into the unknown and returned, changed forever. Big growly guys you've never seen smile are ready to bake you some cookies, your roommate has just told you how great you are, and your best friend friend suddenly has 30 or so new best friends that you've never met. How does this happen? Unfortunately everyone you ask who has been on the retreat won't tell you anything. "Just go" they say. So finally one day you bite the bullet and sign up, thinking "hey I can always change my mind." But you don't. On the appointed day you arrive to find yourself with a bus load of strangers on your way and you are playing that you have enough money to bribe the driver to take you home that night. You arrive and the first night surprises you. You are not really sure what to expect from now on. Then on Saturday you begin to figure it out - and the people are pretty cool too. Finally on Sunday you have forgotten that there is any school, and you feel as if you have known these people all your life. When you return home, you can't get the smile off of your face. You call your parents and tell them that you love them. You hug your best friend and Monday in the Quad you see some of your new friends and you run to give everyone hugs - happy just have been able to say hi in between classes and counting the days until you can all hang out again and maybe, someday, you'll be able to go on retreat again. Guaranteed, every former restaurant who is reading this has a smile on their face and memories of warm fuzzies in their heart. Now…don't you want to know how to get out of those smiles. All you have to do is sign up and you'll have)to quote everyone who has gone) "The best weekend of my life!" Now excuses us, we have to go bake some cookies for our new best friends.

Merrimack Marketing Agency

The Merrimack Marketing Agency was established as part of a unique internship program with The General Motors Corporation. The Internship allowed the agency the opportunity to work directly with General Motors Executives. The goal of the internship was for the students to conduct all areas of Marketing that they have learned in their four years at Merrimack. The students performed all areas of the Marketing Mix, including research, promotion, advertising and event planning.

The agency was comprised of seven senior marketing students. These students were Steven Tyman, John Day, Joe Marino, Rosario Espillat, Ira Lanik, Chrissy Forbes and Dara McGee.

Student Government

What was Student Government all about? Well, since my hockey career never really panned out, I decided to go into politics. As President of Student Government I took an active role with the students on this campus. Along with my Vice-President Jen Newell, Treasurer Albert Manzi III, Member at Large Brian Poulliat and Secretary Olivia Lyons we worked hard together to overcome many obstacles. We made Student Government a leading body on campus. President Richard Santagati recognized Student Government as one of the three major constituencies on campus. We as an Executive board did not work alone, there were 25 other members of Student Government that dedicated a lot of their time and energy into helping the 2000 plus students at Merrimack College. I was glad to be a part of Student Government, it was something I will never forget. I want to wish the remaining and new members of Student Government the best of luck in the year(s) to come.

"Chicago"

Alpha Delta Gamma

Alpha Delta Gamma was founded at Loyola University in Chicago on October 10, 1924. Our founding fathers realized the need for an organization quite different from any other Fraternity. They formed the new national fraternity on October 20, 1927 at St.Louis University. Alpha Delta Gamma was founded upon Christian ideals of true manhood, sound learning togetherness with the unity of fraternal brotherhood.

In September 1987, Alpha Delta Gamma formed its 21st chapter her at Merrimack. It also marked the first fraternity here at Merrimack with a national affiliation. The benefits of being apart of a national fraternity are endless. We share a common interest and respect with members from coast to coast.

AS an active chapter of Alpha Delta Gamma we take great pride in being different and relatively small in size. Each year we try to exemplify the ideals we were founded upon: Brotherhood, Scholastic Achievement, Service to the Community, Spirtual Values, School Spirit, and Good Social Relationships. In addition, our chapter received "Most Outstanding Chapter Award" in 1992 and our President at that time, Brett Simas, won the award for "The Brother Who Most Exemplifies the Values and Ideals Of ADG." Brett graduated Merrimack in 1993.

This past year we were very active as a fraternity. We held our 5th annual street hockey tournament to benefit our national charity, muscular dystrophy. In November, we teamed with other Greeks to clean up Merrimack's campus. We also joined with DPK and held a turkey drive in November to benefit the Crossroads Foundation in Boston. Other events we sponsored included road trips, Universal ADG Night, The National Convention in Louisville, KY and Socials. Our members are very active on-campus. They have been involved in M.O.R.E., Merrimaction, SGA, Orientation Committee, IFSC, Alumni Council, Resident Life, Yearbook, ITC Task Force, Intramurals, Program Board, AMA, ACM and the moving of the new bridge at Mendel.

We would like to congratulate our graduating Brothers and to new Brothers. We would also like to extend our best wishes to the Class of 1995.

Nu Phi Kappa

Nu Phi Kappa fraternity was founded in 1962. Today it stands tall and powerful as one of Merrimack College's most active Greek organizations. We are a very socially active organization taking time and pride to devote to the local community. Among our most noted contributions is the volley-ball-a-thon, which helps to support the Lazarus House in Lawrence. We also sponsor blood drives on campus, with the local American Red Cross chapter. In addition we also run other fund drives such as the Valentine's Day flower sale, several raffles, car washes, as well as off campus socials. The socials are the core of our organization, serving both organizational and community relations purposes. Socials offer our organization the opportunity to contribute back to the college community through providing a safe off-campus, festive environment. They also offer the fraternity's members the opportunity to explore the student body in a comfortable social environment. This year we hosted the second annual "Back to School" Bash as well as the Pig Roast. This year we also welcomed 25 new brothers from the Chi and Psi classes into the brotherhood of Nu Phi Kappa. Concluding, Nu Phi Kappa wishes a warm and sincere good-bye to our graduating seniors. The hard work and dedication which has made Nu Phi Kappa as strong as strong as it is today will bring them happiness and success in their futures.

Field Hockey

In only its second year as a varsity program, the Merrimack Women's Field Hockey team had a record of 5-5. Through determination and hard work, the team improved from last year's record of 2-7. It was a great season for Head Coach Caro DeCourcey and the Lady Warriors. One of their sweetest victories this year came at a home game against Bentley. Last year the Falcons beat the Warriors 8-0, yet this year the Warriors got their revenge and beat Bentley 2-1. Many of the team members also were members of the Merrimack's softball team, but that never stopped them from giving 100% in field hockey practice and in games. These players proved to be determined and very talented two-sport athletes. For the 1994 season, Kristy Edwards received the Defensive Player Award, Raffaella Paparo received the Offensive Player Award, and Jen Mednis received the Coach's Award. Freshman goalie Atiyeh Legault also had a great year. The team will be graduating two seniors this year-Captain Judy O'Connel and Jennifer Mednis. Next Year's captains will be Daniela and Raffaella Paparo. BEST LUCK IN THE 1995 SEASON!

Seniors Say Goodbye

Seniors Say Goodbye

Janette Setterland

The end is finally here! I still can't believe that it is finished, many of you kept asking, "Is it done yet?" I want to clarify the reason for delay -> There were only wo people on the Yearbook Staff, enough said. Everyone needs to thank Steve for this book because without him, there would be no book. Special thanks to the following or lending me pictures, Rachael Defeo, Jen Orlandi, Julie Meade, Chrissy Forbes, Kristen Lemeriso, Michelle King, Kellee Masella and especially Kim Rayla. I would also ke to thank Pat from Resident Life, Mary Ellen Colliton, and Jim Seavey for help on various things.

Our college days at Merrimack are over, what a "large strange trip it's been." I hope that this yearbook will allow each of us in the years to come to look back and emember the special times we had here at Merrimack. When we were all at Freshmen Orientation, a certain anxiety fell on all of us, we all wondered what laid ahead of us? Who would our friends be? Would we like it here? Well the same uncertainty and anxiety hit us as we sat in Volpe last May surrounded by familiar faces wondering what e future would bring? The paths that lay ahead of us are all very different but it is nice to know that each of us has a common band, Merrimack College.

I want to thank the following. All my teachers that I have had here, especially my Marketing Professors, my fellow Marketing Majors who survived Marketing esearch with me and who made classes more enjoyable. All my friends I have made here especially my roommates who put up with me and lastly my family for their support.

Good Luck class of 1995!

Thanks for the memories!

The last page of the book. I never thought that we would get to it. I have to thank Janette most for the existence of this book Her resources and time were dire to the creation of this book. She talked to other seniors and found out what they wanted in their boo and gathered and sorted that material in to the book. She spent countless hours putting the materials together to allow them to b able to put into the computer. I would like to thank Julie Donoghue for her numerous hours of work and support without wanting a ounce of credit. Mary Ellen and Pat of resident life should be thanked for their support in getting us the supplies to get this large tas done. I would also like to thank all the people who contributed articles and pictures to the book. Finally, I would like to thank Ed i the computer store for outfitting me with my Macintosh which allowed me to get the computer portion of the project done without problem.

I would like to apologize for the lateness of the book and any anticipated items that may be missing from the book. With th efforts of two and help from some others we did our best to bring you the best book that we could.

Congratulations to all the seniors that survived these years to graduate from Merrimack. As a Junior I still have quite a bit o work ahead of me until graduation. You bring with yourself the name of Merrimack College, hold your heads high as those ahead o you have done. Take pride in your work and set an example for others to follow. As undergraduates we look up to you in survivin the work that Merrimack has given you to prepare you for the real world. Good Luck to you, wherever your mind carries you.

MERRIMACK COLLEGE
TOLLE LEGE
AD SAPIENTIAM
A·D· 1947

THIS IS THE SEAL OF MERRIMACK COLLEGE

Its heraldry deeply symbolic...
Waving lines of blue and gold, representing the Merrimack River, Merru-asquam-ack, the place of swift water.... our college has already made tremendous strides in becoming a veritable fountainhead of Christian culture and advancement for all those entering its stream of activities.
"a trimount of the field charged with a cross flewrette,' a part of the coat of arms of Archbishop Cushing, under whose patronage the College was established, representing Trimount, the original appellation of Boston.
a child's voice saying "tolle lege, tolle lege" (take up and read, take up and read) led to the conversion of St. Augustine and the dedication of his life to Christ.
"per scientiam ad sapientiam." (through knowledge to wisdom,) the ultimate purpose of Merrimack College . . . only through the valid combination of intellectual and spiritual knowledge of God and the world can we attain the fullness of wisdom.
College colors, blue for the fidelity of the Mother of God, and gold for the wisdom of the three Classes form the chromatic heart of the seal of Merrimack College, devoted to Mary, under the title of Our Mother of Good Counsel, and under her protection.
